

Close-up by gesture for classrooms

Summary

The close-up by gesture function is triggered when a person in the audience stands up. The system electronically zooms in on the person (a close-up). When the person sits down, the function is triggered off and the zooming is cancelled. The original image can also be transmitted at the same time as the overview image.

